From the Pastor . . .

*I thank You, my heavenly Father, through Jesus Christ, your dear Son,
That you have kept me this night from all harm and danger;
And I pray You that You would keep me this day also from sin and every evil,
That all my doings and life may please You.*

*For into Your hands I commend myself, my body and soul, and all things.
Let your holy angels have charge concerning me, that the wicked one have no power over me.
Amen.*

The above is known among Lutheran pastors and teachers as "Luther's Morning Prayer." Over the years, I have kept a copy of this prayer on my desk, in many different churches, chapels, deployed military areas -- or wherever I may be, so that it becomes the first thing I see each morning. No longer do I need the words, as they are etched into my mind like the Catechism in a young Lutheran confirmand's noggin. I know the words, but their presence on my desk reminds me to make prayer the first item of agenda for the day.

As a young child, I noted a glow-in-the-dark plaque in my Godparents' bedroom that read "Prayer Changes Things." More than 70 years later, I remember that turn of phrase, and my struggle with it. The boy who first saw it wondered if a person could actually change the course of events through prayer. I was skeptical, even as a child. Earnest in my occasional prayer, I found myself usually asking for protection from the consequences of some of my choices. Perhaps it worked, as I am still here, having survived all manner of circumstances, even threats to life and well-being.

Over those years I have also developed a practice of intercessory prayer, that is, prayer for others. Twice each day, at 9:00 in the morning and 9:00 at night, even briefly, I remember those who are ill or suffering, and those who have asked me to pray for them. Most seek healing, either for themselves or those they love. I speak or quietly remember their requests before God. I wish I could tell you that in every case, God delivered exactly what the petitioners sought. Yet people still fell ill, some were healed, some also succumbed to the inevitable transition that awaits us all.

Through all the years of Morning Prayer, of praying for peace with those who bore our nation's weapons, or interceding for those within my pastoral responsibility, it has always been as though I became a privileged participant in their own spiritual lives. It remains a gift of trust that anyone would come to another person and ask for their prayers, as if to say, "Join me in this time of my life," be it pleasure or pain, joy or sorrow. In this way, prayer becomes not a magic trick or some kind of spiritual performance, but a great builder of community, where we become blessed with opportunities to serve and to share. We may not be able to affect an instant healing for someone who is ill, or provide complete restoration to a disabled loved one, but we can bring them sustenance, be it nutrition or the sustaining power of companionship and care. Prayer is most effective when it is followed with loving action.

Still, I pray when I get to the office in the morning, and in intercession for others at 9 and 9. I do so while remembering that glow-in-the-dark image that assured Prayer Changes Things. What I have learned through the years, even when God doesn't always do what I ask, is that, always, Prayer Changes Me.

Upcoming Quilting Events • October 18 & November 1

Blessing of the Quilts: October 18

A big thank you to all who have volunteered time, talent, and loving spirit to complete quilts for distribution around the world through Lutheran World Relief. The quilts have journeyed as far away as Tanzania, where they have provided warmth to infants and toddlers, enabling them to thrive and develop – to the Texas Hill Country, where 8,500 were distributed to those affected by the 2025 flood. On October 18, as the quilts adorn our church pews, we will ask God's blessing that more people will benefit from these gifts of love.

We also will ask for some additional assistance from all of you by seeking small donations so that these quilts can continue their journeys to the LWR Distribution Center in Baltimore. Thank you in advance for your generosity so that more people will continue to feel the warmth of love through these quilts.

Bid on a Beautiful Quilt: Sunday, November 8

Stop by the CrossWay before, between, or after services to do some shopping for yourself or someone special by bidding on quilts and other hand-crafted items made by members of our quilt group.

The proceeds will be used to purchase needed materials to complete our quilts and to keep our generously-donated sewing machines in working order. See you there!

ANNOUNCEMENTS

From the Church Council:

We met on August 25, 2026.

Pastor H reported that preparations for Rally Day were underway and Council treasurer Jeff Timm reported a modest uptick in giving.

We discussed the new HVAC system installed in the Education Wing which is now operational. Thanks to John Malitz and his crew for their prompt and hard work!

The Council also had discussions regarding Pastor Leslie leaving on her well-deserved Sabbatical, and, while acknowledging that unforeseen hiccups can occur, the church appears to be well positioned to handle this interim period until Pastor Leslie returns.

The Council also discussed various ideas to improve communication between the church and the Day School, and the Council is optimistic about improved future communications.

As always, should you have any questions about Council or the discussions therein, feel free to discuss them with Council members, including me.

All Saints Sunday / Dia de los Muertos • November 1

The traditions of All Saints Day is beloved at Christ Lutheran. It allows us to gather and remember, grieve, celebrate, and find solace and hope. During the education hour and at both services you will find our All Saints Altar at the front of the church, surrounding the font. It reminds us of our baptismal promises that no matter what, even in death, we are forever held in love by God. You are invited to bring pictures of loved ones to place on the altar throughout the morning. You will also see candles strewn across the altar that will be lighted during worship in remembrance of the saints who have gone before us. A special bell will toll in memory of all those members and friends of our community of faith who have died since our last All Saints remembrance, as we lift their names in prayer. If you would like to submit the name of someone you love who has died in the past year, please contact the church office.

Between worship services and during our education hour, we will continue our remembering by sharing stories of our sainted loved ones and creating projects in their memory. Again, please bring pictures and mementos to share and to place on our Dia de los Muertos Altar.

Fair Trade Sale • November 1 • 8:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

Hollye Schwartz, our very own Fair Trade minister, will be in the CrossWay with handmade items from around the world. Fair Trade is an organized social movement that helps artisans and producers in developing countries make better trading conditions and promote sustainability. Fair trade ensures that workers get fair compensation for their products. Shop for exotic teas and coffees, handmade gift items, and Christmas gifts.

MISSION AND OUTREACH

It's hard to believe that it's October already! Fall is a busy time as school begins for kids, activities soar, and there's so much to do. Sometimes it can seem overwhelming. I take wisdom from my mom when she says, "You can't do everything, but you can do something." I'm sure she got this quote from somewhere, but I think it's good advice. Sometimes I want to curl up and not face the day, but then I force myself to face one thing at a time. You can't do everything, but you can do something. What is the something that you are going to do? Maybe it is to register to vote if you haven't already (October 5th is the deadline). When we educate ourselves about the issues and who's running, we can let our values and our conscience influence our vote. Check out vote411.org for non-partisan information on voting.

FROM DEACON LISA DIANA

Maybe the something we can do is to help someone who is feeling down about themselves. Last month was Suicide Prevention Month, and the Congregational Collective Quarterly Meeting focused on Suicide Prevention and Intervention. We learned about statistics on suicide and resources that are available. Did you know there is a suicide and crisis hotline – 988. Please remember this number so that you can share it with someone who may be in crisis or suicidal. Don't be afraid to ask: "Are you having thoughts of suicide?" If yes, find out if this person has already made a plan. Help them to call the 988 suicide crisis line. Or maybe they just need someone to talk to who will listen. We also learned about the importance of self care at the NAMI Mental Health Conference, because if you aren't taking care of yourself, how can you help others? Slow down. Take some deep breaths, ground yourself in the moment: Name 5 things you can see, 4 things you can hear, 3 things you can touch, 2 things you can smell, 1 thing you can taste. Maybe your "something" will be volunteering, or baking, or shopping for someone who is housebound or visiting a shut-in neighbor.

This month we will be volunteering for a second time at Downtown Dinners on Saturday, October 17, from 5:45 to 8:30 p.m. at 724 Chestnut Street to serve those who are houseless. This ministry feeds 250 individuals each week. We are hoping the weather will be more comfortable this month. If you would like to carpool or RSVP, please contact me at lisa@clcah.org.

Also, for the month of October, we will continue collecting new children's shoes for one of our benevolence partners, Nuevos Vecinos, who assist immigrant families in San Antonio. Shoes can be placed in the CrossWay.

On Sunday, October 23, between and after the worship services, the Mission and Outreach Team will be hosting a Fall Bake Sale. Sign up to bring goodies by scanning the QR code to the right. This will be the same day as Oktoberfest if you'd like to bake extra to share that evening. Homemade goodies or store-bought are welcome. Proceeds will go towards our Mission and Outreach fund to help vulnerable families and individuals in need of assistance. Bring your wallet to church if you don't have time to bake. Thank you for supporting this fundraiser.

Also, looking ahead, save the date for Christ Lutheran Habitat for Humanity build day, which will be Saturday, November 14, from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Volunteers must be 12 years or older, but younger children are welcome at the dedication ceremony afterwards. This is the final Saturday of the Lutheran Cluster Build and it is landscaping day. We usually finish early to participate in the dedication ceremony. It will be a smaller build than normal – just seven houses in this first phase. For more information about the build, contact Chuck Defreest or Lisa Diana. The build location is 4212 E. Southcross Blvd, San Antonio 78222. The new homeowner, Christina Moreno, who is a medical assistant and grandmother, is very excited about owning her very first home and has put in many hours of sweat equity already, beyond even what's required. Scan the QR code to the right to sign up to volunteer.

MISSION AND OUTREACH

We also continue to deliver groceries to immigrant families who fear leaving their homes. If you would like to help in this vital ministry, contact me at lisa@clcah.org, and I will get you connected. If you would like to donate towards the purchase of the Care Kits for our houseless neighbors' project, we welcome donations. Please specify Care Kit in your offering. These kits are available in the narthex for anyone to give out when you see an unhoused person in need. Our next quarterly Mission and Outreach Meeting will be Monday, November 2, at 6:00 p.m. in the Parlor. A Zoom link will be provided. For more information, contact me at lisa@clcah.org.

Deacon Lisa Diana

Groceries for Immigrants

Here is an update on the work that many CLC members and other friends are doing to deliver groceries to our immigrant neighbors. We work with Nuevos Vecinos, a warm and welcoming ministry that is serving many immigrant families with a full range of critical services. Our CLC project has had 40 persons delivering weekly groceries to the homes of 11 immigrant families. Due to team changes and deportations, we are now delivering to eight families. Currently, Nuevos Vecinos is providing services to 65 families with 42 families on the wait list. Some 75% of the families on the waitlist are there because a spouse has been detained or deported.

Our teams function best when we have five members so that the fifth person can drive on the months that have five weeks and the other four team members can keep their rotation the same each month. The fifth person can also substitute when another team member is out of town. If you would be able to purchase and deliver approximately $50 worth of food to a family during months that have five weeks and possibly deliver another teammate's food when they are unable, we believe you will find this to be a very gratifying ministry. We want to develop more teams. I have team members who can afford the $50 each month, but don't have the time to deliver. I also have team members who can drive, but can't afford to pay. Any help is truly appreciated!

A big thank you to all who have been part of this ministry already. We know the work we are doing is a drop in the bucket, but at least we are doing something. The families we are serving know that someone sees them and truly cares about them. This is a powerful message!

Here is one of the many thanks I have received from these families:

"Good afternoon! I am so incredibly grateful and wish you many blessings. You know that one of my dreams is to have the means to be a blessing to others as well. Thank you to all of you and your organization. It has been a great blessing and help to me and my children."

MISSION AND OUTREACH

A Personal Account of the Immigrant Experience

One Immigrant Family's Story... And How We Can Respond as Followers of Jesus

(Lois McGuire, working with Pastor Dianne Garcia at Nuevos Vecinos, has organized eight teams of four volunteers each who are purchasing and delivering groceries to feed struggling immigrant families. We are responding to Jesus' plea to feed the poor and to welcome the stranger. We introduce you to one family we have served that represents countless others who are living in fear of arrest and deportation. All they ask is a chance to work, contribute, take care of their families, be treated with human dignity, and live in peace.)

Jennifer was just 18 when she left Venezuela in search of a better life. After traveling to Ecuador, she met her husband, Julian, in Colombia. They began an odyssey in search of economic stability, looking for work and safety in Ecuador, Bolivia, Peru, Argentina and other places. They found they could not survive the high cost of living and low wages, and finally came to the U.S., lured by visions of the American Dream.

Like so many other desperate seekers of freedom and asylum, they made the terrifying trip across Panama and the Darien Gap on foot, carrying their three small daughters, one of whom was just a year old. This was in June, 2024. The arduous journey filled them with uncertainty and regret, but they had sold everything they owned to make the trip and had no home to return to, so they kept walking. Jennifer suffered a broken ankle and bloody feet.

When they arrived in the U.S., they went through legal channels and were assigned a federal asylum case, but it was later revoked by the current administration, leaving them without legal status or recourse. They have been unwittingly living as fugitives, although they have done nothing wrong.

Despite the soul-wrenching hardships they endured on their journey, in retrospect it was easier than some of the obstacles they've encountered since arriving in the U.S. Crossing the border at Brownsville, they were subjected to psychological humiliation and abuse. The entire family was infested with bed bugs. After they were released, they made their way to San Antonio – destitute and hungry. Yet they were turned away from shelters because of the bed bugs.

They spent one cold winter night on a Via bus bench with no money and had not eaten in 24 hours. They went to a hospital where they were fed, and the hospital contacted Pastor Dianne Garcia of Nuevos Vecinos. She helped them find a place to live, Julian got a job, and then the immigration raids began. Someone in the apartment complex where they were staying reported them. They have since relocated several times.

Their three adorable little girls cannot go to school or the park to play outside for the threats against immigrants. Nuevos Vecinos has helped in many ways, and they are very grateful for the groceries Christ Lutheran delivers every week. But they are tired of living in fear, perpetually on the run. Her physical and mental health are in peril. They can't trust anyone. When we last spoke with them on September 11, they were planning to turn themselves in, believing that they will be placed in a detention center, then deported – she and the children to Venezuela, and Julian to Colombia. She was making candies and desserts to sell, trying to raise enough money to cover food, rent, and transportation from Venezuela to Colombia to meet up with Julian. Our Mission and Outreach team approved a gift to Nuevos Vecinos, which was split between the ministry and Jennifer's family.

We continue to seek, with gratitude, donations to the Mission and Outreach fund to help others. We also ask for prayers for Jennifer and Julian and all who are in our country seeking a better life.

CHILDREN AND YOUTH

Update from the Director of Faith Formation

September brought a wonderful kickoff to our youth and children's activities at Christ Lutheran! Our junior and senior high youth jumped in to help run carnival games at Rally Day, and they did a fantastic job. Sunday School and Confirmation also got off to a great start with an enthusiastic turnout!

A special thanks to Patti, Beth, Lisa, Elizabeth, Scott, and Suz for volunteering to serve as our lead Sunday School teachers this year. We are so grateful for their time, energy, and commitment to helping our kids grow in faith.

FX3 also kicked off the year with a fun night of fellowship at Chicken N Pickle, complete with plenty of pickleball and laughter. Our youth choirs have begun rehearsals, and we are excited to hear them share their gifts in worship. FX3 Rooted also got started with a great discussion centered around the FaithLens curriculum.

I'm looking forward to a frightfully fun and busy October! We have another Confirmation lesson on October 14, the FX3 trip to the Circle N Corn Maze on October 23, youth volunteering and fun at Oktoberfest on October 25, and a Spooky Trunk-or-Treat on October 30.

There is a lot happening, and I'm so excited to continue growing together in faith, fellowship, and fun!

Children & Youth Classes

Stepping Stones: My Bible (3rd and 4th graders and their families)

Sunday, October 4, 9:30 a.m., Parlor

One of the special faith milestones we celebrate at Christ Lutheran is the receiving of a Bible. As third and fourth graders, children are at an exciting age when independent reading skills begin to blossom. This session helps children discover the Bible as more than just a book—it is a place where we hear God's stories, learn about God's love, and discover how God is present in our lives.

During this special time together, children will learn how to use their Bibles, explore the different parts, and become more comfortable finding and reading Scripture on their own. Most importantly, they will be reminded that the Bible is a gift they can return to throughout their lives as they continue to learn, grow, and deepen their faith.

Receiving a Bible is a meaningful step in a child's faith journey, and we are excited to celebrate this milestone with our children and families. RSVP to Ms. Blythe if your family will be able to attend.
